

Student Advisor Workshop: Effective Communication Strategies with your Supervisor

Tuesday January 24, 2012

6:00 - 7:30p

Ed Churchill Friendship Hall (second floor JDUC, in QUIC)

Did you know that regular communication with your supervisor is a key factor that influences whether you complete your thesis on time?

Join the SGPS Student Advisors for a workshop devoted to effective communication strategies within the student-supervisor relationship. In this informational and interactive session, we'll discuss key principles of communication and the importance of regular supervisory meetings. Through role-playing scenarios, we'll practice strategies for improving your written, oral, verbal, and non-verbal communication skills and for overcoming poor communication between you and your supervisor.

Refreshments will be provided.
